Two-month informal moratorium ends Council oks zone changes

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council approved six zone changes Monday night after a two-month informal moratorium on zone changes. Two additional zone changes were referred to the West Valley Airport Land Use Commission for review and recommendation.

The council had continued several zone changes from the March 15 meeting to the May 17 meeting in order to have information from Upland's general plan review before approving the changes.

Council members decided to go ahead with the zone changes after learning the general plan study would not be ready by early May.

The two zone changes referred to the Airport Land Use Commission were also the changes that could be expected to meet opposition from citizens and council members concerned about higher density development.

The zone changes, east of Benson Avenue and south of 14th and 15th streets, would provide single-family residential zoning with minimum lot sizes of 7,500 square feet.

Councilman Hal Bailin opposed the council's decision to refer the zone changes to the Airport Land Use Commission "which hasn't amounted to a doodly damn."

Bailin pointed out the council had been elected by Upland residents to make decisions on development, not to turn over the "voting power of the elected officials of Upland to a commission" with members from other West End Cities.

"This is just another attempt to delay (development). That may not be 'no growth' but that's sure 'slow growth,'" he commented in reference to an earlier statement by Councilman Bill Bottin.

Bottin said he has never been "an advocate of a no-growth policy" but he does "believe in orderly growth."

Mayor pro tem John McCarthy said the City Council was "caught between the devil and the deep blue sea" and said he felt the council has an obligation to allow the Airport Land Use Commission to review developments near the airport.

The West Valley Airport Land Use Commission has developed a regional plan for airports with the Cable Airport section based on Upland's master plan (except for recent changes). The commission has not yet designated which properties fall within its review and recommendation jurisdiction.

The council's move to refer the two zone changes for review stipulates the commission must review and make recommendations before the council's June 21 meeting when the zone changes will be decided by the council.

Zone changes approved by the council include single-family residential zoning with a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet for 10.8 acres northwest of San Antonio Avenue and 20th Street and for 23 acres west of Mountain Avenue at 18th Street.

The council also approved single-family residential zoning with minimum lot sizes of 20,000 square feet for 10 acres southeast of Euclid Avenue and 245th Street, and 10 acres southwest of Euclid Avenue and 20th Street.

Approval was given for a zone change from agricultural to open space and light manufacturing for a half-acre parcel adjacent to the Cable Airport clear zone. Use of the light manufacturing section will be restricted to parking, landscaping or open storage and no permanent building will be allowed.

The council also approved a prezone change for 10.4 acres in the county territory northwest of Wilson Avenue and 16th Street. The single-family residential zoning with a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet will become effective when the parcel is annexed to the City of Upland.

In other action Monday night the council:

—Postponed until June 21 a request for approval to build a planned residential development 85 detached single-family homes on 19 acres east of the Cable Airport clear zone. The council deadlocked on approval for the project and postponed the matter until Mayor George Gibson would be back from vacation.

—Awarded a $69,558 contract to Lair Construction Co. Inc. of Montclair for improvements of Benson Avenue between Foothill Boulevard and 13th Street.

—Accepted a letter of resignation from Planning Commissioner Leo Leal who is moving to Santa Cruz. Leal has served on the commission 1½ years.

'Official Friend'

Scouts honor Gayle McLeod

Gayle McLeod has been named an "Official Friend" by Hiland Neighborhood (Upland) Girl Scouts and scout workers. Mrs. McLeod's own daughters are no longer in scouting but she has served as cookie sales coordinator for seven years.

Hiland Neighborhood Girl Scouts honored her with a life membership, paid by the girls themselves, and scout workers presented her a plaque of appreciation. (Mrs. McLeod is a district advisor for the Upland News.)

Twenty-one other scout workers were honored at an annual brunch held to recognize the "Super Leaders and Super Supporters" of the Hiland Neighborhood, a section of the Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council.

Mrs. Jim Spears and Mrs. Ralph Comito were awarded 10-year pins. Both have served as Brownie and Junior leaders.

Mrs. Spears has also served as Cadette camporee director, Junior home fair director, Cadette troop assistant, troop organizer and consultant.

Mrs. Comito served as Junior home fair coordinator and council delegate.

Five-year pins were presented to the Mmes. Dennis Cowden, Mel Dresp, Kurt Hartmetz, John Miller and Victor Schell.

The Mmes. Edward Willaby, Nancy Koehler, Fred Kramer and Joan Kirchner received the "Thanks" award, and the Upland News and Daily Report received scrolls of thanks for outstanding support.

The "Hiland Peak" award for superior service by women who have been in scouting at least five years was presented to the Mmes. Charles Welby Jr., Eugene Pereira, R.T. Burchell, Tada Sato, Hartmetz and Spears.

The Mmes. Kay Solters, William Deschene, Carl Anderson and John Urbanek received the "Sunshine" award for "outstanding service cheerfully given."

Mrs. Julian Blackburn received the "Helping Hand" award, and

Mrs. Jack Clinton received the "Oracle" award and a gift for her service as district coordinator.

Leaders of the Hiland Neighborhood's 25 troops received special recognition. The neighborhood has 12 Brownie troops for first-third grade girls and 13 Junior troops for fourth-sixth grade girls.

Two Cadette troops serve junior high school girls and one senior troop includes high school girls.

Principals appointed for Upland schools

Upland School District Board of Trustees in recent weeks has approved four changes of principals and eliminated the district director of operations and all teacher aides paid with district funds.

Roberts E. Rowland has been appointed principal for Sycamore School and Frank M. Migaiolo was appointed principal at Magnolia School.

Miss Rowland, the district's second woman principal, has been a coordinator at Robert Hill Lane School, which is an experimental school in East Los Angeles.

Migaiolo, an 11-year veteran in the district, has been acting principal at Magnolia. He served as a coordinator of the district's teacher retraining program.

Baldy View School Principal James H. Smith and Foothill Knolls School Principal Robert E. Clarke will switch positions effective in September. The reassignments were requested by the principals.

The district will also have a new superintendent next year since Superintendent Bill Plaster has accepted the position of superintendent of the Fountain Valley School District. His resignation is effective June 30.

The district cuts in the director of operations and teacher aides are expected to save approximately $57,000. The director of operations is responsible for overseeing custodial employees.

The district decision to cut district-funded teacher aides will result in the elimination of the jobs of 24 people. Aide positions in special education programs, financed through state and federal funds, will not be affected.

The 24 aides will be eliminated on the basis of seniority. Those in district-funded positions who have seniority (three years' experience in the district) can "bump" lower seniority employees in positions which will be retained.

The result of the seniority-bumping procedure will be the elimination of the 24 newest aides.

Upland Teachers Association President Rick L. Minnis criticized the elimination of the teacher aide positions because the district had not asked for teacher or citizen input before making the decision.

the action. Merv Corner directs the ensemble which will perform in the high school auditorium 8 p.m. Friday. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students and children. (Photo by Lynne Locke)

Teacher unit lauds West End members

Two West End teachers have been recognized by the California Teachers Association Service Center One in West Covina as 1976 award winners.

Robert M. Haage, teacher at Montclair High School, was cited "For outstanding chapter service" as a WHO (We Honor Ours) award recipient for contributions to the advancement of the teaching profession. He was nominated by the Associated Chaffey Teachers, an organization comprised of teachers from the Chaffey Union High School District and headed by President Sherry Rutledge, who presented Haage's qualifications at a recent awards banquet in West Covina.

Raymond J. Sarrio, teacher at Alta Loma Junior High and board member of the Chaffey Union High School District, was presented the Theodore Bass Memorial Teachers-in-Politics Awards for 1976. Inaugurated in 1972, the award has been designed to honor teachers who have contributed through their activities in politics affecting education.

Sarrio, a member of the Alta Loma Educators Association, was nominated for the award by the Associated Chaffey Teachers.

Mrs. Rutledge said, "We are very proud that both of our nominees have been honored for their efforts. They have both been dedicated to promoting education and have spent countless hours working toward its improvement. ACT expresses its appreciation for their dedicated service over the years."

Haage was nominated by ACT for outstanding work for the local chapter.

According to ACT, "He has always been a totally dedicated leader in ACT. His eight years experience on the CENC have been invaluable. He was responsible for the initiating of the NEA chapter evaluation, and the establishment of an independent office in a combined facility with other education-related organizations. During his two-term presidency, unification was overwhelmingly passed. In addition to these projects, Mr. Haage also compiled "Historical Highlights," a history of ACT, and formalized an office recordkeeping system.

Local poll shows little nuclear safety concern

A wide majority of Pomona Valley residents surveyed by Assemblyman William McVittie, D-65th Dist., oppose the decriminalization of marijuana and do not believe nuclear power plants are a significant threat to public safety.

More than three-quarters of the residents responding to McVittie's questionnaire also opposed any prohibition on the private ownership of handguns and believe the practice of "plea bargaining" in the courts should be stopped.

"The most lopsided responses dealt with work-for-welfare and police department ticket quotas," McVittie said.

"Ninety-six per cent of the people I represent believe that able-bodied persons should perform some public service in exchange for welfare benefits," the assemblyman reported. "More than nine out of 10 disapprove rating a police officer's performance by the number of traffic citations he or she writes."

Local residents were nearly evenly split on the questions of whether prostitution and gambling should be legalized. Some 49 per cent thought prostitution should be legalized and some 51 per cent that gambling in the state should be legal.

Residents were split 53 per cent in favor and 47 per cent opposed to the California Highway Patrol using radar to enforce the 55 m.p.h. speed limit.

Fifty-five per cent of the respondents to the questionnaire felt that public employees should not have the same bargaining rights as workers in private industry.

In the category of "government reform," 77 per cent of those polled supported the idea of establishing an independent commission to set the salaries and fringe benefits of elected state officials.

McVittie also asked his constituents to rate him as a legislator. Some 22.3 per cent rated his performance as excellent, 42.1 per cent as very good, 26 per cent as good, 8.8 per cent as fair and less than one per cent rated his performance as poor.

Esther Horst: a life of God and Christ

EDITOR'S NOTE: Esther Mary Horst celebrated her 100th birthday Monday at Shea Convalescent Hospital, Upland. In this article Marion C. Anderson reveals the essence of a woman who was an infant when the United States celebrated its centennial 100 years ago.

Mrs. Anderson teaches a Chaffey College Community Education class in creative expression which records the lives and experiences of local senior citizens so their "wisdom" will not be lost to present and future generations.

The first time I saw Esther Mary Horst she was being pushed in her wheel chair down the corridor of Shea Convalescent Home by a 17-year-old girl. On one side was a 12-year-old boy and trailing behind a 12-year-old girl. All had eager, expectant looks on their faces as they headed for the small chapel.

They had talked about life and death. The younger girl kept repeating with a look of wonder on her face, "I never learned so much in all my life." Martha, the older, said with a kind of free joy, "I'll never be afraid of death again."

That settled it. We had to meet this woman who had such an impact on our young friends. Two days later my husband Robert and I had the first of many visits which were to be highlights in our own lives. We, too, wheeled her down the corridor to the uninterrupted quiet of the chapel.

I wish it were possible to paint with words a portrait of the patrician old face and the voice as fragile as heirloom lace. There is very little left of the physical body — her sight is gone. What lives here is pure spirit, and that is amazingly strong.

We thanked her for what she had given our young people and she said, simply, "I love those young people. But they need training." Out of the rich treasure of her life she was sharing with them the secrets and challenge that only the very old can teach and give.

Mrs. Horst was born in Buck's County, Pennsylvania, to a very religious family. One grandfather was French, her grandmother German. Her mother was a wonderful Christian woman, and when Mrs. Horst went to live with a beloved aunt and uncle at 3½ years old, her faith was already built-in as the biggest thing in her life. It must have been a costly decision on her parents' part to let her go, but the two men were twins and very close.

When we spoke of the certainty of her faith, her voice, so gentle one had to listen with great concentration, rose with astonishing force and clarity: "I know that Jesus is mine!" The power of her conviction was overwhelming in the quiet room.

"My Uncle was a reformed preacher and it was a strict home. He wasn't just a 'box' preacher — standing on a box and talking. He talked straight and plain. It's not a question of doing just what you like with your days and years," she said.

"Think of it this way. Today must be a good day because it's Sunday — God's day. If you don't do it right on the Holy Day, you won't do it on Monday. Holy Day — it isn't that any more for many people. It makes you wonder where Holy Day has gone: one day when you are alone — yourself and God. We need it. I must be old fashioned. I need it every step of my life."

"I feel sorry for many people today. They are misfits. They simply don't fit. I ask God every day to help me. I don't want to be a misfit."

She talked about her childhood and the atmosphere and stanch standards of so long ago. "My family was well-to-do — not rich. In that time they respected people. If you had money and you behaved yourself, then you were in society."

"When I was 18, my uncle said, 'Now it's up to you, honey, to stand on your own feet and read and ponder your Bible.' People knew I carried it with me wherever I went. I wasn't pink-faced about it."

"I never drank. It was drummed into me since I was 5 years old and I stuck to it. I believed that was the right thing. God's choice for me. He was my one solace. I wouldn't do anything to displease Him. I'm very proud of the young ones who make that choice today."

"I had lots of fun — oh, so much fun." Her face crinkled up with merriment and memories. And then a rueful expression shadowed it. "Occasionally you slip, of course, with a little lie."

She told of a time still keenly remembered when she took pretzels from her uncle's store for some of the girls at school who had been begging for them. "There they were, so I took them but I had been taught never to take anything without asking." The sting of the lesson learned is still there.

But life was full of good things. "If I wanted a horse, I got a horse. If I wanted a piano, I got a piano." She loved music and played the small pipe organ in Sunday school until she was 19 years old.

Esther Mary was never alone with a man until she was 21. "My aunt wanted me to marry a rich man, but I wanted to marry who I wanted — a Christian — and at 27 I did: a perfect man, a perfect gentleman, and we had the gift of children, four of them. It was a marriage based on love and Christian faith."

When asked about his death, which occurred a few years ago, a look of raw agony etched the lines deeper in her face, and her eyes suddenly overflowed with tears.

"When you love, time makes no difference. When your loved one is taken from you, it is as if your life was taken from you. He died in my arms. I couldn't cry then. I didn't shed a tear. He put up his arms and said, 'My God — I'm coming, My Lord.'"

After he was buried, grief came. Everything was empty. His rocking chair was empty. Then the ocean broke. "But I have learned to hold on to God, no matter what comes. Remember in marriage it isn't 50-50. Go the other 50. Be good to your husband. When you miss him, your life is almost gone."

Then with deep affection and gratitude she spoke of her daughter, Kathryn, who comes to see her every day to do the little things that need to be done. Her daughter, a gracious woman as one might expect, speaks of her the same way. She told us of the time a few years ago when an earthquake did such devastating damage in California. The home where her mother was living was written up in the newspapers as one of the buildings that suffered most.

The elderly residents were paralyzed with fear. Mrs. Horst went from room to room rousing people: "Come on, let's go — don't stand and wonder." One by one they got out and miraculously none was injured, though all their belongings and clothing were gone. "My mother has strength and determination," her daughter said.

Two days before her 99th birthday we had another never-to-be-forgotten visit with Mrs. Horst. Someone had asked her how she lived to be so old and the instant answer came. "Because my Lord has not called me. I live on what the Lord wants me to live on."

"He must have given me a strong constitution. That's why I am what I am. I'm not perfect — I'm anything but perfect. But your thoughts have much to do with your body. I try to live as right as I know how. I don't over-eat. I don't over-do. I won't do what's wrong. That's what He asks of us."

"I didn't wander from one thing to another in my life. I had to have the Lord's hand or I would have wandered. His working with me keeps me going. I ask God to help me keep my mind so I can pass out of this world not a worthless but a helpful person."

"I'm very old. I may not be here long, you know. My God may take me at any time to be with Him. But I have never been afraid in my life. It doesn't make any difference to me when I die, tonight or any time, just so I am prepared when He says, 'Come.'"

"My daughter said, 'The Lord won't push you aside. He'll correct you if you make mistakes. He'll forgive you.' The Lord doesn't want us to cry, but when I am alone I shed tears over the sins I have committed. Christian living is a hard life but it is the best one, and God Almighty will do His part. My favorite prayer is, 'I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord — I'll be what you want me to be.'"

"I talk to God every night. I sometimes wonder if He has time to listen to me — again. I say, 'Oh Lord if it is your will, do help me to keep my memory. Make things into little piles; what I should remember and what you will remember.'"

"I helped many sick people, not because I was high minded, but because I went to Him and talked to Him and asked for His will. I pray also for the rough and tough people. Don't shove anyone out of your heart."

She spoke of the young people she looks forward to seeing each week as eagerly as they do to seeing her. "Youth today!" she muses.

"Never say, 'I wish I was dead' when things go wrong. Live and love the way God wants you to. He will decide when our time comes."

"I'm 99. You may be 9 or 19. You have a big life ahead of you. What a wonderful life you can put before you if you just stretch out your hand to the Lord. Say, 'I must listen to you — can you help me?'"

Gradually it will all come right. Most of the knowledge of our great men comes from the Bible. Just start and see what wealth and health and knowledge you will get out of that book."

Church News Upland Presbyterian

A farewell evening for the Spirit of '76, the youth group of the First Presbyterian Church of Upland, 869 N. Euclid Ave., will be held from 5-8 p.m. Saturday in Hart Hall at the church. The community is invited to join the young people and church members in spaghetti dinner and entertainment. This dinner will be the last fundraising event for the high school group, which will leave for Europe in July for a visit to many of the places of interest involved in the Protestant Reformation. The trip and preceding study program is planned so the youth will better understand the events of the Reformation. They and their advisers, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Gillogly, will travel through Germany, Holland, France, Switzerland and Austria visiting various churches. The youth who will be going are Cheryl Emrich, Bill Milliken, Jim Cunningham, Sam Kline, Carrie Swenson, Roger Ransom, Bruce Beardwood, Paul Beardwood, Karla Peterson, Ed Moseley, Frances French, Mitch Kaufman, Iris Woodruff, Christ Carlson, Terry Bast and Roger Watts.

LV Presbyterian

Pentz is being considered for pastor of the La Verne Heights Church.

'Peace Child'

The film "Peace Child" will be shown 6 p.m. Sunday at Grace Baptist Church, 1515 S. Glendora Ave., Glendora. The public is invited to attend, the free film. The church serves San Dimas and La Verne.

Filmed in the unspoiled jungle of the southwest Pacific, "Peace Child" documents the startling reaction of stone-age people to the message of the gospel. Don Richardson and his wife, Carol journey by dug-out canoe into a rain forest inhabited by some of the world's most primitive people. Painstakingly, they learn the language but are shocked to discover that when these primitive people hear the story of how Judas betrayed Jesus it makes Judas a hero in their eyes because their highest attribute is to be masters of treachery.

Upland Foursquare

Pastor Vivian B. Twyford will serve at the Ordination Service of the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel at Angelus Temple 10:30 a.m. Sunday. "Venture Inward" will be the topic of the Rev. William L. Peyton, associate pastor of the Upland Community Foursquare Church, 8th and Campus, Sunday. The Evangelistic Service will be at 6 p.m. The subject will be: "Spiritual Liberty." The Upland Gospel Choir, under the direction of Robert F. Brazell, minister of music, will sing at both services. The public is invited.

The energy crisis that need not happen

Gas Cutoff Predicted By PUC

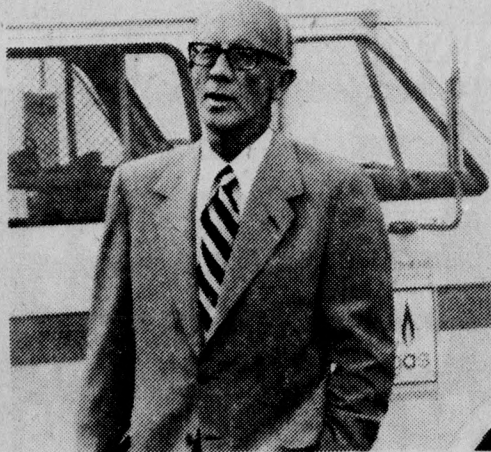

The California Public Utilities Commission predicts a curtailment of residential and commercial natural gas service in the Southland unless gas is obtained from other supply projects.

The projections were made in PUC's 10-year forecast of gas utilities' requirements and supply covering the period 1976-1985.

PUC said that despite higher levels of natural-gas supplies and reduced levels of demand, the curtailment of service was forecast by 1980-81 unless additional gas supplies were obtained from other is getting closer.

One of a series of reports by Harvey A. Proctor, Chairman, Southern California Gas Company.

For several years now, we at the Gas Company have been warning about a serious natural gas shortage in the near future if something isn't done right away. The clipping reproduced above shows that the staff of the Public Utilities Commission recognizes it. This is important. Solving the energy problem demands awareness and cooperation between governmental agencies, labor and industry, and the public.

The situation.

In-state supplies of natural gas for southern California have just about dried up, and our suppliers, who get their gas from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, are cutting back deliveries to us. This has forced us to stop supplying some industrial customers who are able to use other fuels — fuels which are more expensive than gas. If we're not permitted to go ahead rapidly with projects that will bring more natural gas to southern California, we face the dilemma of having to limit our deliveries to small businesses which cannot burn alternate fuels.

The projects.

- We have plans to construct a plant in the Cook Inlet area of south Alaska to prepare natural gas for shipment here. Special ships to bring the gas here have been ordered.
- We have plans to participate in a proposed pipeline that would bring natural gas here from Prudhoe Bay in north Alaska.
- We have plans to build a plant in New Mexico that will make gas from coal.
- We have signed contracts with Pertamina, the Indonesian oil and gas company, to buy its natural gas and import it in liquid form.

The problem.

Delays. Delays on decisions from local, state and federal agencies that affect all of our new supply projects. And every delay adds to the cost of each project and the danger of a future severe shortage of natural gas. A shortage that could mean closed businesses, many hundreds of thousands of lost jobs, and even cold homes, according to the best studies we have.

The solution.

Faster decisions. Of course, government agencies must perform their duties, but the faster the regulatory agencies act, the faster we can get new supplies of natural gas. We know how to prevent a natural gas shortage. We're ready to do so. But after years of hard effort, not one of our new supply projects has received final approval, and our hands are tied without governmental approval.

We need your help.

As a citizen and as an energy user you have the right to be fully informed. We have prepared a brochure to give you more information. You can obtain a copy by writing to: Southern California Gas Company, Box 54093, Los Angeles, CA 90054.

Music teachers in Alta Loma

2 given service award

Foothill Council PTA's annual dinner honoring recipients of the honorary service award from Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda, and Upland was held recently at Chaffey College.

Two surprise Council presentations were made to people who have made great contributions to the youth within their spheres of influence.

The theme for the evening was "School Days Were Happy Days." Programs and table decorations reflected the 50s. Dinner music was provided by Pioneer Junior High School stage band, conducted by Ralph Comito. Following dinner, Alta Loma High School chamber singers, directed by Donald Bowers, entertained with a medley of choreographed nostalgia songs.

Mrs. Bill Sanders, council president, introduced unit presidents, and award recipients from each school.

Mrs. Melvin Thomas, honorary service award chairman, made surprise awards to Comito and Bowers. Both men are known and respected in their field beyond their immediate geographical area. Their efforts in behalf of music students have endeared them to their students and the community.

Comito teaches woodwinds and strings, directs the marching and stage bands and participates himself in a group.

The Town Crier

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and services and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: We have noticed men working in the middle of Mountain Avenue using a garden hose to water the median island landscaping between Eighth and 16th streets. We feel this to be an uneconomical method of watering and wonder why the city takes this approach? Concerned citizens.

ANSWER: These men are employees of Flora Landscape which is the landscape contractor for the Mountain Avenue project. They are responsible for planting and maintaining the plants through a specified plant establishment period. This plant establishment period is a part of the project contract and all costs of such are included in the original contract bid. The contract landscaper has not shown himself to be efficient. This is evidenced by his method of watering those areas which are equipped with automatic watering systems. This contractor has twice planted ground cover in the Mountain Avenue islands north of Foothill Boulevard, both times over-fertilizing and killing the plants. Before the contractor is allowed to plant new ground cover for the third time, the Engineering Department will investigate for any residual chemical damage to the soil. Whereas these problems are very undesirable, they must be resolved by the contractor at no additional charge to the city.

QUESTION: Apparently some little League "sports fans" feel the city public parks offer the same privileges as Dodger Stadium. Can't something be done about the consumption of beer at the parks. K.H.

ANSWER: The General Services Parks Division is installing "No Alcoholic Beverages" signs at several locations. The Police Department does not take too kindly toward violators.

QUESTION: Can you now tell us the duties of the fire marshal? M.S.

ANSWER: Upland's fire marshal is Paul Harmon. Under administrative direction he enforces the Fire Prevention Code of the City of Upland; inspects commercial, industrial and other buildings for fire hazards, efficiency of fire protective equipment, adequacy of fire exits, and general compliance with fire prevention laws and standards; advised property owners on the removal of fire hazards and, if necessary, takes steps to induce compliance with fire prevention regulations; reports violations of laws, ordinances and established safety standards to the fire chief; inspects the installation and maintenance of private fire alarm systems, fire extinguishing equipment and the storage of explosives and flammables; inspects fire scenes for possible arson or violations of fire codes and regulations; prepares and presents regular and special reports on fire investigations and work performed; inspects plans for new construction for compliance with fire codes and regulations; investigates complaints of fire hazards; supervises and participates in administration of the city's weed abatement program, and conducted training classes for industrial personnel in the proper handling of flammable liquids and fire suppression.

Cal Poly drama violent, explosive

By Don Ham
Editor

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" continuing this weekend at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona won a victory over me Friday night that I'll not likely forget.

Before watching the University's Theater Arts Department re-create Edward Albee's dramatic masterpiece, I avoided watching television and theater programs which contained physical or emotional violence.

The reason? It's too realistic. There's too much violence in the world already without amplifying it through our entertainment media.

It's not that "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" wasn't violent. It was explosive.

The most outstanding case of physical violence occurs when George, played by Barry Moore, tries to strangle his wife Martha, played by Merritt Clark, but is prevented from doing so by a visitor in their comfortable old house, Nick, played by Leon E. Fricke.

But not one of the play's four characters, suffers bodily damage. Although Nick's wife Honey, played by Dianne Hollen, does get sick and throw up (off stage) a few times.

As soon as the drama began, I sat on the edge of my seat, completely involved in the characters; wondering why I was so excited by such a "depressing" play.

But the violence was so enthralling, so capturing, that I enjoyed it. Albee uses it as a device to tell the story. In heated argument, one character divulges a part of the plot; then another's retort reveals another part of the plot.

Besides periodical amusing discussions between the characters, it's attack, respond, attack, respond throughout the entire play.

The theatrical delivery was potent. The four performers delivered their lines so convincingly I almost believed I was part of the action. Besides an occasional lack of professional polish, the students did an outstanding job of communicating the raw emotions of Albee's play.

Their performance was heightened by the seating and stage design at the university theater. With the four sections of seats wrapped above and around the floor-level stage, the loud, harsh, hate-filled voices came through loud and clear.

The plot? Albee gives glimpses of the plot, if you're quick enough to catch them, throughout the play.

At first we find college instructor George and his wife Martha arguing and drinking in their living room in the early hours of the morning. Nick and Honey, who Martha invited over for an after-party drink, soon arrive. Nick is a new biology instructor at the college.

After they arrive, George warns Martha not to talk to them about a certain subject. The plot is born.

For the next three hours, all four drink and talk and argue and joke; with George and Martha making most of the attacks on themselves and the unsuspecting and confused younger couple.

The inner secrets and frustrations of each character emerge from their "confessions."

George is a frustrated, 46-year-old member of the History Department of New Carthage College. He's getting old and further and further away from becoming successful. He has been refused permission to publish his novel. He has failed to keep the respect of his wife who frequently attacks him for his failures.

Martha blames herself for falling in love with such a failure as George. The

ALBEE DRAMA — Barry Moore as George and Merritt Clark as Martha display the intimacies of their tumultuous marriage to their guests, Dianne Hollen and Leon Fricke, in Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" The drama will play 8 p.m. tonight through Saturday at the University Theater, California State Polytechnic University, Pomona. For reservations call (714) 598-4546.

daughter of the college's president, she had ambitions for her husband to assume her father's job upon his retirement. And she has another, bigger problem that Albee doesn't reveal until the end of the play.

Nick is an extremely ambitious, 30-year-old, athletic, clean looking man. His frustrations center around his willingness to do almost anything to become successful, and his relationship with his wife, whom he married when she appeared to become pregnant. It was a false pregnancy.

Honey, a 26-year-old red head, though polite and reticent at first, becomes drunk and flirty. Her inner torment, revealed to George by Nick, was her false pregnancy. George also discovers that Honey, because of a deep fear of having children, refuses to become pregnant and even aborts her pregnancies when the need arises.

The plot thickens when Martha tells Honey of their son. George finds out and challenges his wife.

The intensity of the play increases as George creates and then enacts a plan to "kill" his son because Martha revealed their "secret" to another person.

George suddenly announces his son is dead, despite the pleading of Martha to keep him alive.

Then Albee reveals to the characters and the audience that their son is imaginary; a myth perpetuated by the older couple to substitute for the children they have been unable to bear.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF MONTCLAIR NOTICE INVITING BIDS
 Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Montclair, California, until 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, June 15, 1976, in the matter of the construction of PCC curb only for curb returns, 18" gutter, PCC curb only, 6" PCC curb and 18" gutter; 6" PCC curb and 6" gutter; 8" PCC curb and 18" gutter; 10" PCC curb and 18" gutter only; variable PCC curb and 18" gutter; 4" PCC sidewalk, 6" PCC driveway approaches; and 8" PCC cross-gutter for a twelve month period beginning July 1, 1976, and ending June 30, 1977, in the City of Montclair, California, as ordered from time to time by the City Engineer of the City of Montclair.

The Council hereby invites sealed bids and proposals for doing the work described in City Engineer's Project O.E. No. 10 and providing for the construction of:
 1. PCC curb only for curb returns
 2. PCC curb only
 3. 6" PCC curb and 18" gutter
 4. 6" PCC curb and 6" gutter
 5. 8" PCC curb and 18" gutter
 6. 10" PCC curb and 18" gutter
 7. Variable PCC curb and 18" gutter
 8. 18" gutter only
 9. 4" PCC sidewalk
 10. 6" PCC drive approaches
 11. 8" PCC cross-gutter

The land upon which the work will be done will be prepared to the required grade to within 1/10 of a foot either above or below grade by the City of Montclair before the contractor commences his work under this contract. The contractor will install all work to required grade as established by the City. Contractor will include in his bid all necessary epoxy for gluing gutter to existing curb. Epoxy to be HI Bond 210 or equal. The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the Council Chambers, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. on the date above mentioned. Plans and specifications and all contract documents may be obtained at the Office of the City Engineer, City Hall, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California. A non-refundable deposit of $5.00 for each set of specifications with accompanying drawings will be required.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of the proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000). In addition to the above and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

This contract is a so-called "Open-End Contract" for the work to be done as stated above, but not to exceed the amount of $10,000.00 ordered and not completed at any one time. This call for bids contemplates that purchase orders shall be issued to the contractor receiving the award of contract stating the location and classification of the actual work to be performed on each job.

The contract, however, does not prohibit the City of Montclair from contracting with others to perform any specific project which may involve the same type of work involved in this contract. This contract simply provides the City of Montclair an offer of a unit price structure against which orders may be issued in accordance with the proposal and these specifications.

Although it is understood that any or all bids may be rejected for various reasons, it is further understood that insofar as calculating the lowest bid in the contract the following formula will be applied by the City Engineer:

(a) Each item in the proposal has been assigned a weighted percentage figure. All these percentage figures total 100%. These percentage figures represent the City Engineer's best estimate based upon his experience of the relative importance or frequency an item will be used under this contract within a one year period.

(b) The percentage figure assigned to an item multiplied by the unit price shall be designated the weighted bid for the item, and the weighted bid shall be used only for the purpose of calculating the lowest bid. The total of all the weighted bids shall be the figure used in determining the lowest total bid.

(c) Besides the total of all the weighted bids, the City Engineer may take into consideration unbalancing of any item bid. By unbalancing of an item bid, it is understood that it means bidding an unreasonably high price on an item compared with its going market price when such item is assigned a low weighted percentage figure.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the general prevailing rate of wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 to 1780 inclusive of the Labor Code of the State of California. The City Council of the City of Montclair has ascertained and adopted the general prevailing rate of hourly wages for week days and for Saturday, Sunday, Legal Holidays and overtime work for each craft of type of workman needed to execute the proposed contract and it is on file in the Office of the City Clerk.

If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must, within 30 days after this summons is served on you, file with this court a written pleading in response to the complaint. (If a Justice Court, you must file with the court a written pleading or cause an oral pleading to be entered in the docket in response to the complaint, within 30 days after this summons is served on you).

Unless you so respond, your default will be entered upon application of the plaintiff and this court may enter a judgment against you for the relief demanded in the complaint, which could result in garnishment or wages, taking of money or property or other relief requested in the complaint.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

PUBLIC NOTICE

FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME STATEMENT

The following persons are doing business as:

Cottage cheese has many names

Italians call it ricotta. In Scotland it's bonny clabber. Among the Pennsylvania Dutch it's smearcase. The pioneers made it at home, in cottages. Hence, the modern name, cottage cheese.

Rural communities once regarded it as a tasty and handy way to use milk left over after cream skimming. Recently it's been recognized as a boon to dieters, rushed lunch eaters and the nutrition-conscious.

Research shows that today, big city people, small families, older people and West Coast residents eat more cottage cheese than other groups.

From 1974 to 1975 partially creamed cottage cheese gained in sales. Regular creamed styles held their 1974 figure.

This solid form of milk is an unripened, soft curd cheese. It's made by coagulating the protein of pasteurized notfat milk, cooking it in the natural liquid whey, draining and washing, then flavoring the curds and adding mixtures of cream and milk.

An average one-half cup serving of creamed cottage cheese provides about 15 grams of protein. This is approximately one-third of the daily Recommended Dietary Allowance for protein established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences. Cottage cheese provides almost twice as much protein as a glass of milk. Its protein equals that found in a two-ounce serving of cheddar cheese, fish, poultry, lean meat or three eggs. Partially creamed offers slightly more protein.

Cottage cheese is also low in calories. Creamed has 120 calories per one-half cup serving. Partially creamed varieties contain between 85 and 110 calories per one-half cup.

Cottage cheese is part of the milk group, one of USDA's Four Food Groups for balancing the diet. Others are the meat group, vegetables and fruits group, breads and cereals group.

Cottage cheese and other cheeses may be used for part of the recommended milk group servings — three cups or more for children, four cups or more for teenagers, two cups or more for adults. Cheese does not take the place of milk in all nutrients. But, it provides an additional margin of nutrient supply, particularly protein, calcium and riboflavin (vitamin B-2).

Store cottage cheese as you would fresh milk — refrigerated and covered. Use within a few days after purchase. Creamed cottage cheese doesn't freeze well because thawing causes separation. Partially creamed styles freeze more effectively.

Great-Grandmother Ames:

Warm a large pan by pouring boiling water over it. Pour into it three quarts of nonfat milk. Let this stand two or three days in a warm, not hot, place. Leave it to form a thick clabber,

"Radio Waves Back" is the title of the nostalgic presentation to be made at the regular meeting of The Press Club of Southern California. The dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the La Cabana restaurant on the corner of Holt and Palomares streets in Pomona.

Dyer Huston, who spent over 20 years in radio before accepting his current position as manager of the Fontana Chamber of Commerce, will present the program that includes taped excerpts from such radio famous shows as "Fibber McGee and Molly," "The Green Hornet," "Amos and Andy" and a host of others.

Huston, who was a writer and producer for such shows as Lohman and Barkely, Robert Q. Lewis and Young America Sings on KFI radio for 15 years.

The press club meeting is open to members and guests and reservations may be obtained through Marge Gross (714) 983-3511; Mary Remillard (714) 622-1201, or; Judy Hammond (213) 962-8811.

just starting to whey. Never hurry this step as hurry means a tough, rubbery curd. Fill the pan with boiling water and then let it cool. The whey will separate and the curd will sink to the bottom of the pan. When it feels slightly rough between finger and thumb, it is ready. Put the curd into a collander and drain half an hour. Add a little salt for flavor. Salt will help force out the rest of the whey. If it's too dry, add a little sweet cream.

Whether you make your cottage cheese at home or buy it from the supermarket, don't wait until Christmas to try this unusual German bread made with cottage cheese. Stollen, colby cheese, radishes, fresh apricots, cherries and a thermos of frosty cold milk — perfect picnic fare.

German Christstollen
1/2 cup butter, cold
3 cups regular all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs or cracker crumbs
1 cup sliced almonds
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

flavoring
1/2 cup milk or rum
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
2/3 cup granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups seedless raisins
1/4 cup chopped candied lemon peel (optional)
Butter, melted
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners sugar

1. Cut the cold butter into thin slices. Place in refrigerator until needed.

2. In large mixing bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, salt, crumbs and almonds. Set aside.

3. In medium-size mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy. Add vanilla, 1/4 cup of the milk, the cottage cheese, granulated sugar, raisins and candied lemon peel. Mix well.

4. Make well in center of flour mixture. Pour in egg mixture. With fingers, work liquid mixture into about 1/2 of the dry ingredients. Add sliced butter. Continue working butter and liquid ingredients into flour mixture until well combined. Dough will be stiff.

5. Place dough on lightly floured surface. Roll to form an oval 3/4-inch thick, 9 inches wide and 12 inches long. With rolling pin, lightly crease dough just off center, parallel to the 12-inch side. Brush with melted butter. Fold smaller section over larger section pressing sections together firmly. Brush top with additional melted butter. Place on ungreased baking sheet.

6. Bake in oven at 325 degrees F. about 1 hour or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Place on cooling rack, if desired. While bread is cooling, stir together confectioners sugar and the remaining 1/4 cup milk. Drizzle confectioners sugar mixture evenly over warm bread. Cool completely.

Store tightly wrapped in aluminum foil at room temperature for 3 to 4 days, or frozen, for several weeks. Yield: 1 Christstollen

Wow! New idea

Chocolate and cheese

Cheesecake has always been a favorite dessert, but now is the season for the gelatin-style cheesecake because it requires no baking.

This chocolate-swirled beauty has a marbled effect that comes from melting chocolate pieces in cream and then blending lightly with the gelatin-cheese mixture. It's held enclosed in the chocolate cookie crumb crust.

Plan to serve Rocky Roads Cheesecake when the rest of the meal is in light, salad-days style. It will provide much needed satiety value as well as a delicious dining experience.

Rocky Road Cheesecake Crust:

2 cups chocolate cookie wafer crumbs
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, melted

Filling:
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup cold water
1/3 cup all-purpose flour
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup milk
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten

1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup whipping cream
2 cups cottage cheese
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
4 egg whites

For crust, combine crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Press mixture firmly and evenly against the bottom and halfway up the sides of a 9-inch springform pan. Chill. For filling, sprinkle gelatin over water to soften. Combine flour and 1/4 cup sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add small amount of hot mixture to egg yolks; return all to saucepan. Cook 1 additional minute. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. Melt chocolate pieces with 1/3 cup whipping cream over low heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate is melted. (Refrigerate remaining cream until used.) Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm.

Beat cottage cheese 5 minutes on highest speed of mixer. Blend in vanilla, almond extract and gelatin mixture. Beat egg whites until foamy; continue beating and gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar. Beat until stiff peaks form.

Fold beaten egg whites into gelatin mixture. Whip remaining 2/3 cup cream in a chilled bowl with chilled beaters until stiff peaks form; fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon about 1/3 of filling into crust; drizzle thin stream of chocolate over filling; swirl with spoon in marble pattern. Repeat until filling and chocolate are used. Chill 6 hours or more. Yield: 1 cheesecake.

Chocolate Cheesecake! A really new twist to a favorite dessert. It's called Rocky Road Cheesecake, and there's no kidding, it is rich, fattening and delicious. Plan to serve this confection after a light meal or as a dessert at a bridge party. Some would even like a slice of breakfast.

Minor injuries in horses

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services Norden Laboratories

Minor injuries have a tendency to develop into serious problems for horses. Thus, horse owners should try to treat these injuries as soon as they become apparent.

There are five basic types of skin injuries: bruises, abrasions, incised wounds, lacerations and punctures.

A bruise is a surface injury that doesn't break the skin. It may develop after a fall, kick or collision, and swelling generally develops as blood and fluid seep out of the injured tissues. Often you can reduce the swelling by promptly soaking the injured area in cold water or packing it in ice. The cold helps control the pain as well as the swelling. The swelling may subside spontaneously in a day or two as the fluid is gradually resorbed.

If the bruise bleeds a little or oozes fluid, it is known as an abrasion. Abrasions heal more quickly when kept soft and pliable, so you may want to ask your veterinarian for an antibiotic ointment to prevent development of a hard scab.

Cuts that bleed heavily are classified as lacerations (those with torn or jagged edges) or incised wounds (those with clean edges). Obviously, the first priority with either is to control the bleeding, usually with a pressure bandage. If you can't hold the bandage firmly enough, try padding a small rock or chunk of wood with your handkerchief, and then bandaging it over the cut with several turns of material. Once the bleeding has stopped, you can cleanse and then bandage the wound.

Any cut that breaks the skin should be cleaned thoroughly, with foreign matter removed and nearby hair clipped short.

Hydrogen peroxide is a good disinfectant for use on horses. Warm salt water (not tap water) will also do the job. If you don't have peroxide or salt water, don't try to substitute iodine or a strong disinfectant like methylede blue. These medications will burn tissues in an open cut and may kill tissues in some of the tender areas.

Deep cuts on the lower legs are especially difficult for a novice horse owner to treat, and are best left for a veterinarian to handle. The veterinarian will know which should be stitched and which must be left open to heal from the inside out. He or she will also examine cuts near the joints to determine if the joint itself is injured or is losing fluid.

Injuries below the knee sometimes develop "proud flesh" when the tendon is damaged. In this situation, the special connective tissue between bone and muscle (called a tendon) is damaged and begins to grow back too rapidly, producing rubbery surplus tissue during the healing process. Your veterinarian may suggest a few applications of picric acid or a similar preparation to control the abnormal growth of the tendon.

Punctures — the last type of skin injury — always require special attention, even though they do not appear to be much of a threat.

A puncture usually has a rather small opening at skin level, but may extend some distance into the flesh. It tends to heal first on the outside, creating a pocket under the skin where infection can build up and spread through the horse's body.

Proper treatment of a puncture includes opening up the original injury, cleaning it with hydrogen peroxide, and leaving a bit of sterile cotton soaked in antiseptic just inside the cut. The cotton should be replaced each day until the cut has healed from the inside out.

The greatest danger from a puncture wound is lock-jaw or tetanus. Once symptoms develop, even the most intensive treatment may not prevent death from occurring.

EARLY PAINFUL WARNING: A "MORNING AFTER" BACK

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

People spend countless hours planning a vacation trip or shopping for a new suit of clothes, yet give little or no thought to an important one-third of their lives—sleep.

If you wake up with a stiff neck every morning, or your back has that "morning after" feeling when the alarm goes off, it's time to take a good look at your sleeping habits.

Start with your mattress. It should never be extra - soft or extra - hard, just firm enough to support your weight evenly once you settle in for the night.

If you sleep on your stomach, you're asking for trouble! Stop and think about it a minute. For eight hours every night, your neck is twisted to one side, placing an undue strain on it. Also, the weight of the spine and back muscles compress the vital organs and increase swayback.

Equally bad for swayback is sleeping flat on your back. Your back needs rest, too, and it won't get it in this position.

However, placing a pillow under the knees while sleeping on your back is an excellent way to sleep. This will help relieve swayback and takes pressure off the vital organs.

Generally speaking, the best way to sleep is on your side with the knees and hips slightly bent. "Slightly" is the key word here. The knees should be bent at a 30 to 45 degree angle, not doubled up into the stomach as if you were ready to do a somersault.

When sleeping on the side, it is important to use a flexible pillow which holds the head and neck in a normal position, not an overstuffed one which tends to push them to one side. And don't pillow your head on one arm. It's weight will cut off the flow of blood to the arm, giving it a tingling sensation in the morning.

You should begin preparing for sleep an hour or two before going to bed. Reading or watching television are excellent ways to relax. Pick a comedy or variety show, not a violent one-dun-it or horror movie. A leisurely bath or light snack, such as warm milk, can also help you to relax.

These few hints should help you get a good night's sleep, to be able to wake up "fit as a fiddle" rather than suffering from "morning after" back. However, should that stiff neck or sore back persist, call your Doctor of Chiropractic. Your problem may be more serious than just poor sleeping habits.

Health Tips

Chest pain in youths

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

It is not uncommon for children to complain of pain in various parts of the chest. Adults (parents, teachers) often over-react to a child's complaint about such pain because they have been alerted to the fact that chest pain in an adult may be a symptom of a serious cardiac problem. Chest pain in a youngster, however, is rarely a threatening symptom.

The most common cause of such pain is injury which affects the muscles or bones in the chest area. If you are aware that a child has been injured — perhaps in the course of strenuous playing — and the chest pain dates from that point, you can safely assume that the pain is of muscular or skeletal origin. If the pain is brought on by specific movements or if you can produce it by pressure over a specific portion of the chest, that, too, tells you that it arises from muscles or bones.

Being overactive can cause muscular strain which results in the chest pain, and it is quite common for children to experience a pain in the side (called a "stitch") after they have been running.

Any child who suffers from an acute or chronic cough may experience chest pain. Once the cough has been brought under control the pain can be expected to subside. Lung infection can cause chest pain, but if such an infection is present the child will have other symptoms also — such as cough, fever, tiredness and decreased appetite.

It is unlikely but not impossible that chest pain in a child means exactly what it often does in an adult — a cardiac problem. When this is the case, the pain is severe, is located below the breastbone, may be brought on by exercise, and is usually accompanied by sweating and a feeling of faintness. Sometimes a chest pain means that there is some irregularity in the heart beat (arrhythmia). This can be confirmed by checking the child's pulse. The child may be experiencing this irregularity, however, without feeling any chest pain.

If your child tells you that his or her chest hurts, determine, if you can, whether it has been caused by injury or strain. Pains of such origin often heal with rest and the passage of time. If you cannot account for the pain by either physical or emotional injury, you should take the child to a doctor.

Blood pressure warning

More than 300,000 Los Angeles residents have high blood pressure, states the American Heart Association. About 50,000 of these are children.

Sexuality workshop scheduled

Maggi Wargin, Claremont women's therapist, will conduct a workshop on "Understanding Female Sexuality" on Saturday, May 22, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the VIP Room at Griswold's in Claremont.

Wargin is a professor of human sexuality at Chaffey College and has taught women's courses at the University of California, Riverside, and La Verne College. She also is a licensed marriage and family counselor.

Topics to be covered in the workshop are the biology, sociology and psychology of female sexuality. The workshop is limited to 30 women, and there will be a tuition fee.

The class is sponsored by the Claremont Bio-Cybernetics Center. To reserve a place, interested women are asked to call 626-0761 or write the center at 236 W. Radcliffe Drive, Claremont. Registration is either by mail or at the workshop at 9:30 a.m.
